SHEEP QUARANTINE.

Lines to be Drawn Closer and Laws to be Changed.

COLORADO AND NEW MEXICO SHEEP.

By a decision just reached by the State Live Stock Sanitary board, the sheep quarantine declared by the g vernor two months ago is to be made perpetual, says the Denver Republican. This will be startling news for sheep men, but there is more behind it. New legislation is to be recommended whereby one county writing, to the trainmaster's office, in may quarantine another. According to the state veterinarian, it is to be "state against state and county against county. New Mexi to has notified the State Vet rinary board that it will co operate will felorado, and already the most rigid in spection laws are insisted between the state, Montana and South Dakota.

None will come by the latter route, as sheep always travel towards a market, brough Wyoming, nothing but clean sheep will come, as that state has its own quarantine against the big California and other sheep grazing grounds. NEW MEXICO ACRESS

The determination of New Mexico t have strict quarantine is recent. At fire the New Mexicans felt burt at the pleatheir being shut out of Colorado. Tw weeks ago the state veterinarian went t New Mexico for a conference. At the conference the New Mexicans contende that their sheep were no worse that many Colorado sheep, and if Coloradsarred New Mexican sheep, then it would be only fair for the territory to bar Colo rado sheep. The veterinarian said that he had no opposition to offer to such a proceeding, and after discussion it wa lecided as the best thing that could b ione Mew Mexico has decided to do and one of the first bills that will g through the next territorial legislature
